FRIEND REQUEST

Founded by the late Alber Elbaz, the fashion house AZ Factory aims to encourage transparency, inclusivity, and trust in the industry. As part of the brand's new Amigos program, guest designers will be enlisted to create a collection that will be sold on Net-a-Porter and Farfetch (as well as on the label's own website and at select stores). First up: LVMH Prize winner Thebe Magugu, whose optimistic designs would have surely had a fan in Elbaz.

It's getting hot in here—and these fashion, culture, and beauty launches are adding to the heat.

RANCH STYLE

This summer, Malibu's The Ranch puts a dolce vita spin on its transformational wellness program. The retreat's newest outpost, which opened in mid-May, is about an hour outside of Rome at Palazzo Fuggi. The eight-day experience has some similarities to the Cali regimen: daily four-hour hikes, yoga, naps, and massage. But expect some European flourishes, too. Hikes include wandering through medieval villages and ancient monasteries, and the plant-based menu features Italian-influenced dishes designed by three-star Michelin chef Heinz Beck.
